Seasoned Timber

GARFIELD teachers and executives are named "Seasoned Timber," not because they are old or dry, but because they are imbued with knowledge and understanding which enable them to guide and educate students. Teachers have a great deal of influence over young people since they live together six hours a day, one hundred-eighty days a year; therefore, it is essential that the faculty be composed of top-notch men and women. Garfield is justly proud to have such leadership. The faculty not only teaches but also initiates and encourages student activities designed for fun. Have you ever gone to a football game and seen teachers there cheering as loudly as you? Or did you ever go to a P.T.A. dance and smile at teacher who looked very gay and human out of class? Or have you ever seen the faculty act in the Funfest? Of course you have. The faculty is always there, prodding or beckoning people on to a better life.

THE BOSS AND

MR. HANSELMAN, whose duty is to see that school regulations are faithfully enforced, has always been recognized by both faculty and students as a very cooperative and understanding leader. He is ably assisted by Mr. Slocumb, whose duties include the ordering of supplies, disciplinary problems, and guidance of students' programs. Miss Hensel and Mr. Cribley, the advisors of the Girls' and Boys' Clubs respectively, assist in planning various school projects, such as the activity plan, the nurse's schedule, and noon programs. It is through the excellent cooperation and guidance of the principals and their associates that the student body has been able to undertake and engage successfully in so many school productions.

THE faculty and students also receive excellent cooperation from the office. Here, the business of the school is efficiently conducted under the direction of Mrs. Semmens, the head clerk, and Miss Drapeau, her associate. While the office handles all clerical matters, the attendance department is successfully managed by Miss Warren. In the counselor's office, the students receive aid in planning their programs and guidance in vocational ideas, from Miss Bell, who is ably assisted by Miss Hamaoka. Under the supervision of Miss Cole and her assistant Mrs. Almquist, students receive excellent assistance in the library. Through the combined efforts of these departments, Garfield is recognized for its efficient and systematic management.

Four Years In Paradise

GARFIELD'S student body is represented in this next section of the Arrow. Each face signifies an important person, whose picture will make his importance live on. Perhaps, when you look through this book in later years, you will remember with pride old friends who have since gained prominence in the arts, sciences, literature, or other fields. You can recall, too, what fun it was to be a part of Garfield, adding your own zest and support to build a better school spirit. Perhaps "Four Years in Paradise" doesn't aptly describe high school life—there are tribulations such as home-work and demerits; but for the most part, high school is a period of fun and study. It is an experimental stage when new friends and ideas are shaping the students' opinions and mannerisms. Garfieldites have exceptionally fine opportunities for developing an understanding of people, for within our student body are many nationalities that live and learn peacefully together.

GONE WITH THE WIND

THE class of "50" is a title which will be recalled with pride by each member of the graduating class. Working together as a group, the seniors achieved their goals as leaders in the school activities and proved themselves worthy by their accomplishments.

Though the students will soon be "Gone With the Wind" from Garfield's halls, they will carry with them the knowledge and memories gathered during their senior year.

Mr. Roy Tichenor ably guided Garfield's mid-century graduating class through a successful and worth-while year.

ONE FOOT IN HEAVEN

THE members of the class of 1951 now occupy the coveted position of upperclassmen. The obstacles and handicaps of inexperience have gradually been overcome, and these students are now enthusiastically participating in many school activities. They have not only assumed responsibilities in the Boys' and Girls' Club work, but also are represented on three publication staffs. The highlight of the year was the dance, "High Society," that the Juniors presented in honor of the class of 1950. After having completed three successful years under the guidance of their advisor, Miss Shelton, these students who have "One Foot In Heaven" are ready to assume full leadership.

AGE OF INNOCENCE

"WALK, please; don't run," admonishes the patrol-boy, holding forth his bright warning flag. A shrill whistle pierces the ear, and traffic slowly stops. This is a frequent scene at all of Garfield's crosswalks while the Sophomore Safety Patrol is on duty. These are the boys who do their part to uphold Seattle's reputation for expert street-safety patrols. At Garfield there are twenty-five boys who alternate for this duty. Their time, risks, and responsibilities are compensated, to some extent, by honor society points and service letters. The Sophomore class can justly feel proud of its contribution to the safety of the entire student body.

THE GREEN YEARS

THE one hundred seventeen Freshmen, who entered Garfield last September, have finished their first and most difficult year. The usual "greenness" of new students was soon something of the past with the Class of 1953. Their loyalty to their new Alma Mater was soon proven by their school spirit and willingness to enter the extra-curricular activities. Honors were brought to the class by the Freshmen girls, who worked hard to present one of the best acts in the 1950 Funfest. These students, although handicapped by inexperience, have seriously begun to plan their courses and activities under the capable guidance of their class advisor, Mr. Schneller. These students will have occasion to look back upon "The Green Years" as enjoyable and profitable.

Let The People Know

E DUCATION functions through communication; therefore, it is appropriate that a school should promote and develop literary publications. The Messenger, the Pen and the Arrow work to "Let the People Know." The Messenger serves as a witty, weekly paper; the Pen as an outlet for creative genius of the students; and the Arrow as an authoritative record of the year's activities. Good work on the publications is rewarded with Honor Society points and membership in Quill and Scroll, a national organization. Other student groups which contribute toward the school's general welfare are the Cabinet, Advisory Boards and Boys' and Girls' Club officers. They stimulate school spirit and provide a strong student government. This next section of the annual is devoted to the members of these organizations. The Arrow staff is proud to record the pictures and activities of these people who helped to make the year 1950 such a memorable one.

ALMOST

THE selection of the theme "books" was the first major project of the 1950 Arrow Staff. Before actual work on an annual may begin, a theme which ties together all the separate divisions must be selected. Members of this staff chose "books" since they felt that this subject is of fundamental interest to students and faculty alike. If this theme inspires the reading of any of the books used, the staff's aim has been fully achieved.

Miss Marie C. Saeman, who has advised twelve Arrow Staffs, gained the respect and admiration of all who worked with her by the friendly manner in which she guided them.

PERFECT

TWENTY-THREE students comprise this year's Arrow staff. Selection of the members is conducted every spring when the aspirants are given a test. They are chosen by Miss Saeman and the present staff for their ability in designated fields, recommendations by faculty members, and scholarship. From the first picture mounted to the last line of copy written, the editors and their staff have put in days of planning and hours of work to meet impending deadlines. Unwilling camera subjects, budgeting finances, and last-minute changes in copy have been discouraging, but the experience gained has offset any difficulties.

BEYOND GLORY

QUILL AND SCROLL is an international honorary society for high school students who display outstanding ability in the literary field. The goal for membership is set by the staffs of the Arrow, the Messenger, and the Pen, from which the candidates are chosen. This goal inspires them to do superior work, thus causing the publications to obtain nation-wide acclaim. The advisors of the three publications present the names of the prospective candidates at a meeting. These candidates must be in the upper third of their class scholastically and be unanimously approved by the present members. The membership of the G. N. Porter chapter of Garfield includes publication editors, copy writers, business personnel, and artists.

THIS IS MY BEST

THE members of the Honor Society have always been recognized as outstanding students because of their superior scholastic achievements. These members, who are easily identified by their purple and white one-bar, two-bar, or gold seal pins, stand as an inspiration toward better scholarship. In order to receive these membership pins the students must earn twenty-four points as sophomores; at least fifty points when juniors; and seventy-eight points by their senior year. Upon graduation those members who have one hundred eight points are entitled to retain their gold seal pins. Most points are earned through the grade-point system, but additional points may be received for outstanding service in school activities.

THE HEART OF

ROLL officers consist of a president, a secretary, and a banker, and are elected at the beginning of each semester in a democratic manner. Their duties are various. The president and the secretary attend roll representative meetings, where the information that is obtained, is in turn presented by the officers to their respective rolls. Discussions are then conducted on problems concerning school life and students are reminded of forthcoming events. The roll banker not only acts as teller for the school savings plan, but also urges greater participation in this worthwhile plan.

THE MATTER

THESE students elected to the offices of president, secretary, or banker of the roll room must maintain a satisfactory grade average, must be trustworthy as well as efficient, and must participate in many school activities. These requirements are very important as on these officers rests the responsibility of accurately informing their roll rooms about such important matters as proper conduct in assemblies and at games, the promotion of charity work, and rules concerning conduct in the halls. They are also responsible for stimulating interest in all school productions.

Show Boat

ALL aboard! A memory trip on Garfield's "Showboat" is beginning now. Turn these pages and recall the exciting stage events of '49 and '50 that made school so interesting. Remember the turmoil of the Funfest—practice and more practice daily until the "Big" night arrived. How well the inter-planetary theme was carried out, with weird sound effects and the outer-space backdrop! "January Thaw," the Senior Play, was another brilliant success. Something new was introduced in place of the regular Mid-Winter Concert—a light operetta, "Down in the Valley," was chosen. After several disappointing cancellations it was presented at an assembly enjoyed by the whole school. Another box office favorite was "Rio Rita." Combining hard work and talent, the chorus, dance groups, band and orchestra made the productions possible. The spirit behind these performances is indicative of the cooperation and enthusiasm Garfield pours into worthwhile projects.

MASTERS OF

"JANUARY THAW," an entertaining comedy, was presented by the advanced drama class under the auspices of Mrs. Carolyn Westphalen, drama advisor, and Joan Mottelson, student director. Adapted from a novel by Bellamy Partridge, the play was the ultimate result of the diligent study of character parts, as well as lines and cues.

The senior play is an activity which is entered into with enthusiasm and remembered with pride and pleasure by everyone, whether as a participant or a spectator.

"I'm not married, George. I'm not!"

THE DRAMA

GARFIELD should be proud of its thespians who had leading roles in "January Thaw." Norm Calvo and Jackie Doucette brilliantly dramatized the elderly Rockwoods who, upon returning to their homestead, found the Gages, Don Adams and Esther Myers, occupying the house. Crowded living conditions stimulated a confusing atmosphere and many amusing incidents.

A happy ending, climaxing the hilarious comedy, drew to a close one of the year's best productions.

"RIO RITA," a colorful musical performance centered around the Rio Grande, was presented as the Spring Operetta. The leads were chosen in March and were backed by the participation of the selected chorus and the orchestra. Numerous rehearsals resulted in a marvelous production which the entire audience received with enthusiasm. As in past years, the operetta was one of the favorite activities, but this year the whole school caught the atmosphere created by the gay costumes and lively tunes of the southern border area.

The faculty members who directed the show were Mr. Parker E. Cook and Mr. Raymond Johnston.

THE Orchestra, although small in number, has contributed fine performances during the year. Combined with the outstanding musical students from Washington and Meany Junior High Schools, they provided excellent selections on the nights of the Senior Play. Another display of their efforts was at the Mid-Winter Concert and at the operetta, "Rio Rita." As practice is an important factor in the skill of every musician, a daily period is set aside for this purpose. Under the able direction of Mr. Raymond C. Johnston, this valuable organization presents grand opportunities and experiences for each participant.

DISCHORDS

THE BAND, under the skillful guidance and direction of their new leader Mr. Raymond Johnston, has performed at pep assemblies, football games and various school productions. During the football season they not only introduced new songs, but also entertained with specialty numbers. One of the most outstanding of these was "Coming Round the Mountain." The students in the Band have not only learned to cooperate and unify their work, but several of them have also received additional training in actual band leadership. Dressed in attractive purple and white uniforms, the members of the Band are an asset to all Garfield gatherings.

Because of their high quality of work and varying repertoire, they have entertained music lovers throughout the city. Both advanced musical knowledge and considerable skill have been the rewards gained by practicing together.

UNDER the excellent direction of Mr. Parker Cook, the Garfield Nonette has entertained during the year within the school as well as throughout the city. The girls are selected by Mr. Cook at the beginning of the year not only on the basis of vocal quality, but also for personality and skill in both interpreting and reading music. The Nonette tryouts are open to anyone regardless of previous vocal training. The girls spend many hours after school, working on popular as well as classical selections. They are well rewarded however by valuable experience gained in the musical field and by the acquisition of many new friends.

The Battle Is The Payoff

GARFIELD'S fighting sportsmen can be seen working and practicing every night after school, any season of the year. In the fall, the football boys rough it out on the playfield, plowing through mud and ignoring cold rain. Their rhythmic push-ups are seen from 230 study hall, but the work and persistence that are necessary to turn out a polished grid star are never fully appreciated by mere on-lookers. Basketball takes over during the winter, with the hoopsters tossing those balls in the gym every night. Next follows baseball with the "whack, whack" of bat versus ball, and the less publicized tennis, golf, and track. In all these sports, "The Battle Is the Payoff," the culmination of all the hard work, and with the student body's support the Bulldogs always make a good showing. Equally important in the sport field are the intramural activities that give everyone a chance for fun, relaxation, and the feeling of being on a team.

THE big event of Seattle Prep football took place on the night of September 23, in Memorial Stadium. The second quarter, which featured Garfield vs Lincoln, proved to be the most exciting quarter of the game. The Pups passed and bucked their way down to the Lincoln ten-yard line before being stopped by a fumble. The high schools of the west won the third annual classic.

BADMINTON was limited to juniors and seniors only, due to the popularity of the sport. Run for a twenty-week period, it was under the management of Gloria Hyodo, Jane Okamoto, Fanny Wong, and May Namba. By applying fundamentals learned in gym classes, the after-school players enjoyed fast, competitive games.

PING PONG was offered to sophomores as consolation for exclusion from badminton turnouts. The rules of the sport being rather simple, the girls practised slams and perfected serves during the after-school period. Jean Fujii and Terrie Shimomura directed this game which was enthusiastically accepted by the lower classmen.

VOLLEYBALL, an after-school sport, develops arm and leg muscles as a girl leaps up into the air to hit the ball over a high net. Managers, Marianne Otoshi and Pat Abella, helped the girls to organize teams and took care of equipment. Volleyball started in February this year, followed by baseball in April.

SWIMMING was again made possible as an after-school sport with ten points given at each turnout towards a "G" or Chevron. Since the rumors about the fourth-floor swimming pool were untrue, the girls learned their aquatic lessons at the Y. W. C. A. Elia Sunsted and Vivian Chan were the managers for this activity.

VOLLEYTENNIS, a game taught for the first time to Garfield girl athletes, was so popular that it was the major sport for the fall, after-school turnout season. Though it is played over a tennis net, the rules of this activity resemble those of volleyball. The sport was conducted by Phyllis Yambao and Wanda Neukirch.

ARCHERY, a sport popular since the days of Robin Hood, still finds enthusiasts in the modern generation. With the bows and arrows provided by the school, the girls acquire valuable experiences at no cost to them. The feminine William Tells must be good marksmen, judging by the unbroken windows in the girls' gym.

COUNTRY DANCE, part of the physical education program for girls, is quite popular. Learning the many square dance steps together with the schottish, several waltzes, and folk dances, produces enjoyment and good exercise for participants. Square dancers from the country dance class took part in this year's folk opera.

MODERN DANCE, technically not a sport, nevertheless, was included in the girls' physical education program. Besides learning basic dance steps, the students gained poise and gracefulness from this class. For various occasions in the past years, the more advanced dancers functioned in several school productions.

"UP TO THE LATEST"

SKI fundamentals class was offered because of the popularity of this sport. The course included movies, lectures, conditioning exercises, and indoor demonstrations, but there was no way of providing outdoor experience for the skiers. This was furnished by ski schools under the sponsorship of the daily papers.

TENNIS classes were so large that practice on the courts was quite limited. After the basic principles were taught, the more ardent players organized an after-school tournament in which games were scheduled on a ladder scale. When the courts were too wet for play, the racket swingers improved their skill in the gym.

TUMBLING, the sport which requires perfect timing and body co-ordination, was offered as a regular gym course. The beginners learned the less complicated stunts such as the headstand while the advanced students mastered spectacular acrobatic feats. Tumbling's popularity may be due to the fact that it aids in keeping trim.

The Human Comedy

SCHOOL is not all study and drudgery; in fact, Garfield students have their full share of fun. The feature section of the Arrow will give you a glimpse of the happier side of life: shots of humorous little incidents that happen every day and also snaps of important events. Who could forget the highly anticipated Purple White Day, or Olot Day when mock chivalry reigned? The extra-curricular activities should be, and are, emphasized as much as the academic subjects; for if a school presented only undiluted book learning, its graduates would be grossly unbalanced individuals. Garfieldites are fortunate in this respect, since opportunities for having a good time and making friends are offered. The following pages of the Arrow will probably bring back more memories to you than any other section of the book, because they present a true picture of our colorful school life. Look ahead now into Garfield's "Human Comedy."

Dear Diary

Pan-Petry

September 7 The first day of school marked the beginning of the sales in the ticket office for admit slips to the swimming pool and licences to run the elevator to the fourth floor. And so begins a new semester at Garfield.

September 22 The student body of Garfield High spent the day at the Puyallup Fair, eating cotton candy, drinking cokes, and taking "daring rides" on the Ferris Wheel. The weather was perfect, and everyone had fun.

September 23 The Jamboree—and what a colorful evening this was! A great show with the eight teams, clad in their Alma Maters' colors, sporting their best. During Garfield's quarter, the Pups tied Lincoln with a score of 0-0.

September 30 Woe is us! It's our first loss with a 20-7 victory for the Rough Riders of Roosevelt High. Our touchdown was made by a pass thrown from George Yelland to Sam Angel. Nice going, boys!

October 21 Thirty, maybe forty-five minutes—. Anyway it was a Pep assembly and the Auditorium walls shook to the tune of "Garfield High, Our Alma Mater." Don Rogers supplied entertainment with his amusing records.

October 22 "Come See The Game, For Garfield High—." A victory, and what a wonderful feeling remains, beating those Grizzlies by a score of 14-0! Could be the Pep Assembly and inspiration of it all, helped.

November 5 Following the game with Ballard, in which the opposing team scored over us 3-0, the Bulldog Club sponsored the "Bulldog Bounce," which was held in the girls' gym. It was a big success, and fun, too.

November 7-10 Everyone has his nose buried in some type of book. What's the sudden attraction? There's only one answer to this. It's "Ten-Week-Test-Time," when everything is dropped for a few This week end was a big event in the days—to cram.

November 18 Lives of the Drama students, especially Don Adams, Esther Myers, Norm Calvo, and Jackie Doucette. All held prominent rolls in this year's Senior Play, "January Thaw."

November 24 The Thanksgiving Day game, and what excitement! One of the happiest days Seattle has known for a long time, with Lincoln High of Seattle winning over Wa High of Walla, Walla, with a score of 21-7.

December 2 Another wonderful event took place as the P. T. A. dance was held at the Epiphany Parish Hall. Featuring Bumps Blackwell and the junior band, the dance was a big success. This was a night enjoyed by all.

December 9 The Aurora Roller Bowl was the setting of the "Projector Prance," held for the purpose of raising funds to buy new projectors for the science department. Several students challenged the faculty to a race.

December 22 A "real" Christmas assembly with carols and everything. Mr. Cook led us in singing favorite tunes and the band played entertaining selections. Also the Drama class gave a holiday play. Merry Christmas everyone!

January 6 Wow, what excitement and competition! The ARROW was challenged by the MESS to play a fast game of basketball—and that it was. Had the ARROW team eaten its Wheaties for breakfast, it might have won!

January 11 A rousing pep assembly was held in order to prepare us all for the first basketball game with Roosevelt High on Friday. After Mr. Fidler gave us a glimpse of the team, the Debonairs sang some of the "old favorites."

January 13 The "first" Basketball Game of the season was to be played at Roosevelt on Friday the 13th, but the game was called off because the weather conditions were poor. Is anyone the least bit superstitious?

January 19-20 Well, school was called off because weather conditions did not permit the busses and various other transportation facilities to move freely. All tests and activities were called off, and—ah, Vacation!

January 25 The Noon Program Committee presented another one of its hilarious movies. Entitled "Riot on Ice," it featured Bud Abbot and Lou Costello, a movie that would brighten anyone's day.

January 31

This was a sad day for those students who aimlessly spent the semester just "Slippin' Around," as the results showed on their report cards. Many students had their troubles adjusting themselves to the tempo of Garfield.

February 3

The weekly noon dance really made a hit. Since the conditions for entering the gym were that only couples would be admitted, everyone was dancing. The swing band supplied the music, with Tom Adams as vocalist.

February 9

The Mid-Winter Concert "Down in the Valley" was given, being directed by Mr. Cook. With Kris Bowman, Bob Paulson, and Gale Sparks as leads, it really was a great success. Thanks to all who took part.

February 14

Valentine's day of all things! It's "that time" of year which doesn't come often enough for some people, and too often for others. Some will be trading hearts, while the rest will regard it as just another day.

February 17

The Sophomore Dance, with aid from the P. T. A., was held at the Casa Italiana. Their theme, basketball, introduced the name "Rebound Romp." Dancing to the orchestra of Archie Kyle, everyone had a wonderful time.

February 28

The Garfield Pups played the West Seattle Indians, in Lincoln's gym, winning by a score of 35-20. The losers meet Queen Anne on Thursday with the winner playing the Bulldogs at the Pavilion, March 7.

March 2-3-4

Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of March 2, 3, 4, were the dates when the "Funfest of 1950" was presented. With Mr. Maxey in charge, the Funfest committee chose "Space Review" as the theme for the gala event.

March 7

West Seattle downed the Pups 40-24 at Edmundson's Pavilion. Both teams made a slow start, neither hitting the basket until three minutes of playing time had all elapsed. It seemed to be West Seattle's game all the way.

March 15-18

A Cinderella team from South Kitsap upset the favored Lincoln team to win the state high school championship. Aberdeen took third place by defeating Clarkston, and Walla Walla beat North Central to take fourth place.

March 24

Mr. Scmalle and Dick McKnight were crowned as Knights at the Olot Day assembly. Jay Belle Bader was voted "Miss Ball Bearing of 1950," and reigned over the skating party sponsored by the ARROW staff.

March 31

The Junior Class, with assistance from the P. T. A., presented a dance at the "Casa Italiana." High Society, featuring Bob Marshall and the Debonairs, was given in honor of all the graduating Seniors.

April 1

It's such a sad occasion! All the teachers have left the state, and the schools are closing until further notice. No ARROWS or MESSENGERS will be given out. Anyway, folks, happy April Fool's Day!

April 1-10

Ah, Spring Vacation, and now we can relax for seven whole days. Probably skiing will take up a lot of time in the lives of the more "industrious." And for the lodge skiers—a game of Canasta will be fine.

April 14

It's the start of the 1950 baseball season, with the Bulldogs opening against Queen Anne. Good luck, fellows.

May 18

With the assistance of Miss Burns, the clothing classes presented their annual fashion show in the auditorium at the P. T. A. meeting this month. Those who attended marveled at the results.

June 2

A "Purple and White Day" assembly was presented, at which a king and queen were crowned, and a review of the past was given. The ARROWS were given out, following the "Noon Activities."

June 5-9

Well, school is almost at an end, and the Seniors are taking advantage of their "Week" to the fullest extent. Most of their free moments are spent signing ARROWS and saying goodbye to all their friends.

June 14

Commencement exercises were held at Meany Hall. Afterwards, the more fortunate ones went to the "Senior Prom" at the Nile Country Club—a fitting climax to four really wonderful years. Good luck '50 grads!

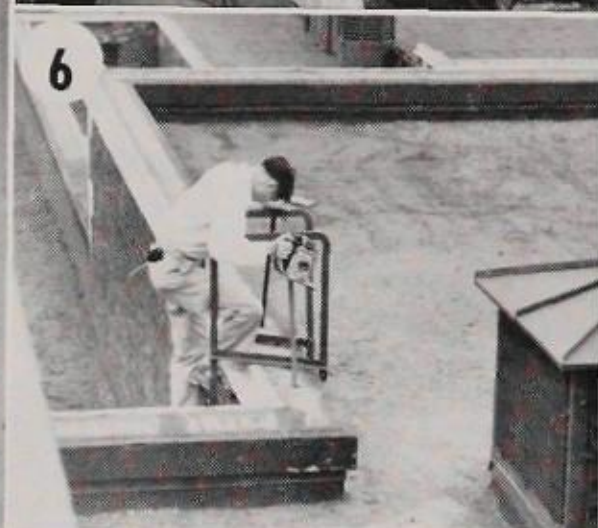

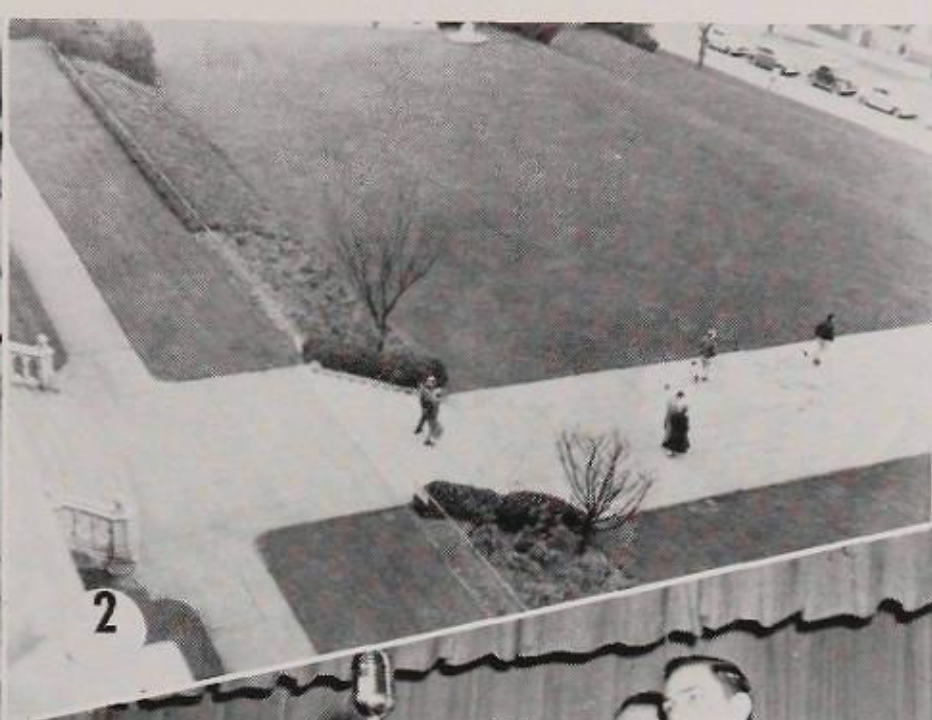

June 16

The end of another perfect year. So long for now folks!

IT CAN BE DONE

THE "Top Ten" present an outstanding example of the scholastic achievement which has been maintained during four years of high school. They have received the vital background necessary for future success.

Without thought of acclaim, these students realized the importance of pursuing knowledge and the subsequent high grades when they first entered Garfield. They set their ideals and have been striving for the goal which they now deserve. As the "Top Ten" leave Garfield to take their places as leaders in colleges and universities, and finally in communities, they merit recognition along with wishes for good luck in years to come.

GOOD-BY MR. CHIPS

THE 1950 Arrow is off the press. To you, the student body, this means that the halls will echo once more with the cry of "Sign my Arrow," but to the staff it means the end of all the turmoil-exciting though it was. Our theme song "Deadline Blues" was ground out every fifth period in the Arrow office; now, at last, we can break the record. To the uninitiated, 213 teems with apparently disjointed activities—a typist intently pounding away, layout technicians puzzling over picture dimensions, an artist inking a picture, several people arguing over the color of the cover, and perhaps some poor soul trying to write copy in the midst of the hubbub. These were the processes by which our annual was produced. Miss Saeman, our advisor, rates a hearty cheer for the wise suggestions with which she guided us—the unanimous consent of the entire staff backs this statement. This is your annual—we hope you like it.

*"Go forth, my book, and take whatever pounding
The heavy-fisted destinies prepare."*
